STANDING IN THE NOW
RELEASING
KARMIC LAW: # 81

Somewhere the sun is shining
on my dreams.
Somewhere I am living all
that they mean.
Somewhere in my heart I love this place enough to fill up my mind with plans and make the dream for myself.
Oh to sit in the moment and ask for the amazing essence of me to work by the grace of faith, to believe and to will all that I am to live in this wonderful space.
Allow me to hold in my mind
a reminder of it. Bring forth every day the wish to fulfil it.
And I will take responsibility to hold my space as a worthy one.
It will not come to me by luck
or fate.
It will not be given to me as a gift.
I will gather together this dream that is somewhere
waiting for me.
If I curse who I am or what I can do I will lose.
But if I love who I am and understand what I can do this goal is mine to achieve.
Then there's somewhere I'll have for myself with sunny days to spend in this dream
of mine that's come true.

A MESSAGE FROM ELAINE

PrimeTuning is expanding with fine results. As we start to move into 2014 we feel that some wonderful things can be achieved.

It is good to look for what we desire and give our mind room to show us the possibilities that can work with good result.

We are thrilled with the feedback from the people that are now using the skills of PrimeTuning. It is exciting and rewarding.

ELAINE'S QUOTE THIS MONTH:

Visualisation dwells in the mind. Ideas mingle until a seed is sewn by the power of thought as it collects a glimpse of all possibilities. To create what we see, we become involved by our emotions to seek and find what we asked for.

Spiritual Wisdom in our Cells

The emotional Angels Pages 87 & 92

We all know the power and reality of love and that hate is its opposite. Guilt denies its responsibility and leaves us with the mess. Humans are the only ones who can forgive, so we ask for forgiveness and carry the blame. The Angel is let off scot-free. We are the only ones who can change the mischief the Angels have created.

Envy that we carry against those we think have more than us, causes us to believe in our inferiority. No one is poor in gifts, talents and wealth if we are aware that we are given abundance Angels to support us. I have never materialised what others would consider as big money. However I have written books without consideration for my time or expense, knowing that they are for a changing world. And my heart sings with just being part of that plan. The Angels that selected me to help them will never let me down. I feel and see their support every day. I am fed and looked after and these books will pay me back tenfold. My life is never boring. I can sit and write and find all the answers to every question I ask. I can thank my Angels with loving tender feelings, and yes, people who have come to me have seen them around me. So Angels too honour our Soul and are interested in us humans that were given the power to own a Soul.

There are question marks built into every thought. There are answers as well if we can find them. There is always good value in every experience. Sometimes, though, this gets lost by worry, or us not thinking it through thoroughly.

The world is powerless to create good or evil in our lives. She has her own cycles that are set for her. It is we, who can think and form protection for ourselves, who create our own good and evil.
